Well, we made it! We're safely settled in the new offices on Commercial Avenue and you just remember these words... this is positively the last move. There were times during the past few weeks when we thought that we wouldn't make it, but then everything would sort of work itself out and a new problem would present its ugly head. The male member of this family is looking and feeling like an old dhrag and just when we thought that he couldn't possibly make another step he announces that another long night of work is in view. Today (Thursday) however he looked spry than we've seen him in many a day and it's because the fruit of his labors are humming like little birds.

Paul went into the press room Thursday and saw the shining new Miehle press just rolling along. It runs so smoothly that we don't even hear it in the front office and Joe Weakles, the pressman, was all grins as he just kept right on feeding the press. We know that many of you have been pretty chagrined these past few weeks with the sight of the fold on the paper. This week we hope that it will be just like one of the big city newspapers because we also have a new folder. Barring any mishaps we hope that the paper you will receive today will be noticeably one of the nicest printed, one of the nicest folded and one of the nicest little printing jobs you've seen in a long while, from us at least. If not this week, surely next!

In not too many more weeks we hope to have an official opening of the new plant to show off our hard labor. Maybe to you it won't be such an elaborate outfit, but to us who have worked so cramped in smaller quarters we think it the nicest little news-paper plant since here we've been. Come see us as you pass along Commercial Avenue. Through the courtesy of Ernest Lowe of Fulton Furniture and Electric Company there's a free parking lot in the back and there's ample space always on Commercial Avenue.

Mrs. Jo Westpheling
Fulton
Kentucky
Dear Jo:

Congratulations on having been chosen a member of the Kentucky delegation to attend the National Democratic Convention which begins in Chicago on July 21.

Please let me know as soon as possible if you plan to be there so I may secure reservations for you at the LaSalle Hotel in Chicago—the Kentucky headquarters. At such times as all members have responded, you will be advised of transportation arrangements.

I sincerely hope it will be possible for you to attend.

Cordially yours,
Lawrence W. Wetherby, Chm.
Democratic State Convention
(Ed's note: The pleasure is all mine and I will certainly be there.)

Iona, Michigan

Dear Jo and Paul:
Your picture of Pete and a nice writeup made the front page of the paper here. It was certainly nice of you all to send it up, and we really appreciate it.

We miss our friends in Fulton just a lot, and wish we were closer so we could run down for visits at frequent intervals. However, being so far removed, in miles, from the old stamping grounds—will have to be satisfied with the papers and letters. So how about a nice, long, gossip letter—Jo-hanna?

Have you met Dr. Grinnell as yet? All the reports are favorable, to say the least. So he must be a very nice person, as well as a good doctor.

We like it here fine—everyone is very friendly and hospitable. Pete is working every day except Thursday afternoons and Sundays (of course he still has emergencies even on those days). He fishes a lot—girl, there must be hundreds of lakes within a 30-mile radius of Iona, and I firmly believe he's decided to fish in each one of them each month. He caught 8 yesterday. That's pretty good for one afternoon, at least, it is, to us. We're not the kind to catch the limit. Say, that little girl down there must be a fisherman from the old school. It would (Continued on page 12)

American Legion To Sponsor Horse Show Here On Aug. 8

Raymond Stallins, Commander of American Legion Post Marshall Alexander No. 72 announced today that its annual horse show will be held this year even without a county-wide fair. Date of the fair has been set as August 8 and will be held at Fairfield Park.

Commander Stallins appointed a horse show committee consisting of: Charles Gregory, Charles Browder, Guy Fry and Raymond Williams. The commander will make up the fifth member of the committee.

The horse show this year will be of special interest as a mid-summer activity since the Young Men's Business Club has announced that they will not sponsor a fair this year in view of the impending highway project which will cut through the fairgrounds where the fair is usually held.

More details of the show will be announced later.

FULTON GOLFERS IN WIN OVER MAYFIELD

Fulton's lady golfers who attended the golf tournament in Mayfield Wednesday literally burned up the course with their slam-bang playing and came away with the lowest net score for the entire tournament. Mrs. Buren Rogers was medalist for the Fulton players and placed second for the entire tournament. Mrs. C. H. McDaniel won low putts and Mrs. Uel Killebrew was adjudged the winner of the "poker hand."

The low average score for the Fultonians was a record for the players with many of them playing their best games of the season.

Linda Sams, Don Wright Join News Staff In Front Office

The publishers of the News are pleased to announce today that "something new" has been added to the epic and span front office of the paper on Commercial Avenue. The News has added two new employees to the front office staff. They are:

Miss Linda Sams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sams of Route 3, who has joined the staff as front office assistant. She will handle all bookkeeping, circulation, society and other duties in the business and circulation office. She is a graduate of Fulton High School in the class of 1931 and the News is indeed pleased to have her. She replaces Miss Beverley Blough who has accepted a position on the nursing staff of Jones Hospital.

Don Wright, 16-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hendon Wright has assumed the duties as "executive vice-president" in charge of all extra-curricular front office, advertising and back shop projects. He is to handle classified advertising and other outside selling.

Both young people are efficient and pleasant additions to the staff and we invite you to call on them in the new offices on Commercial Avenue.

'BEST HIGHWAYS FOR KENTUCKY'--CURLIN YOU AIN'T LEARNED NOTHING YET--BILK

A conference between Highway Commissioner W. P. Curlin and a labor leader blew up on angry tones late Wednesday.

At the end of the talk which had progressed smoothly for an hour, Mr. Bilk, president of the Kentucky Council 800, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, arose and stated:

"Commissioner, I've known you for two years and you haven't learned a d--- thing."

Curlin shot back, "Well, Al, I've learned that I'm going to run the Highway Department for the best interests of Kentucky." Bilk and his colleagues then strode from the air-conditioned commissioner's office.

JIMMIE SISSON HONORED WITH SUPPER

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Johnson were hostesses to a delicious barbecue supper at their home on Cleveland Avenue, Wednesday night in honor of her nephew, Jimmy Sisson, who is home on leave from the Navy.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Buford Sisson, and children, Ann and Charles; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moore and Sharon; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Underwood and Cheryl; Mr. and Mrs. Mack Sisson; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Mooneyham; Mrs. G. E. Johnson; Mr. and Mrs. Otis Sisson and Nancy; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Easley and Billy from Cuba, Ky.; Rosalyn Bennett; Jerry Johnson and Burns Davis of Murray State College.

Seniority and efficiency should be the controlling factors in layoffs and recalls, Bilk said. Curlin said a third factor, "agreeableness or congeniality, getting along with people while doing your work" is necessary. Bilk said those conditions were too difficult to define and ought not to be considered. But Curlin held to his third point.

Hourly workers get time and half for work considered of an emergency nature, such as clearing roads of snow and ice or evacuating people from flooded areas. Bilk said emergency work ought to be more clearly defined. Curlin said he would look into this. He said time and a half for each hour worked over 40 generally does not apply to government workers.

A very prominent and popular city councilman told the News on Thursday that the need for a city park, with a recreational playground for children, is occasion for blaring headlines. The councilman said that the City of Fulton had under consideration a plan to establish a park and the matter will be brought up at the next open meeting of the council by Al T. Owens, city councilman.

Meanwhile the News, which has advocated the need for a city park for several years learned unofficially that the State Highway Department will pay $5000 for the highway right of way through the city-owned fairgrounds. Rotary President Paul Westpheling at the regular meeting of the club on Tuesday appointed a committee from the club to work on the city park project.

At press time on Thursday

Mayor W. Smith Atkins, confirmed the statement that the highway department had offered $5000 for the right-of-way at the fairgrounds and that it is tentatively planned to use the funds for a city park. He said that he was heartily in favor of such a project for the city and that as soon as the highway department completes its plans for the highway by-pass the city park idea will be given top priority by the City Council.

Former News Reporter To Write Weekly From Chicago

We are sending Sue a copy of our Chicago subscribers and hope that she can make a few calls each week to let us know what is going on among the Fultonians in that Loop City.

Her first report follows and we hope that she will continue with one each week.

Former Fultonian Dies In Centralia

F. J. Goodman, Illinois Central passenger conductor, died Wednesday morning at his home in Centralia, Ill.

Mr. Goodman lived in Fulton about 10 years ago when he was conductor on a freight train between here and Blufford, Tenn.

Survivors include a son, Fred Goodman, Jr., Pontiac, Ill., and a daughter, Mrs. Paul Allen, Centralia.

Funeral services will be held in Centralia, Friday.

Miss Susan McDaniels is visiting this week in Metropolis, Ill.

Approximately three years ago members of the City Council at that time had under consideration the purchase of Carr's Park as a city recreational center, but the plan of those members never materialized. The property owned by the Carr family fronting on West State Line near the schools was subsequently sold to Maxwell McDade who has plotted the property into residential lots and is fast becoming one of the choice residential sites in Fulton.

The enthusiasm for a city park in Fulton is gaining momentum. Recently Rev. Carl Robbins, pastor of the First Methodist Church appeared before a local civic organization and related the urgent need for such an area in Fulton.

Presently those interested in the establishment of a city park and recreational playground for Fulton are discussing the property at the fairgrounds. Since the route of the proposed by-pass around the city is scheduled to run through the fairgrounds the area therein is ideally situated for a city park.

A spokesman for the City said that it is the hope of the council to put on its early agenda a city park, containing a city swimming pool, playground equipment for children and a lovely park area for picnics and other out-door outings.

Poling the members of the City Council the News learned from:

James Meacham: "Ab-so-o-o-lutely I am in favor of a city park. We are waiting to see what the highway department will do about the fairgrounds before we make any definite arrangements. I think I speak for the whole council when I say that the city is 100% for a city park and recreational playground for children." Mr. Meacham could not estimate the cost of establishing such a park but said "I want a swimming pool to keep our youngsters from driving out of the city to take a swim."

Al T. Owens: "I intend to officially bring up the matter of a city park for Fulton at the next meeting of the council. All of the members have discussed it privately and all are heartily in favor of such a park. We need it badly and the council intends to get to work on the matter as soon as some pending matters are cleared."

Charles Robert Bennett: "I am very much in favor of a park and the City Council has been thinking about it for a long time. Of course I want a park that is in keeping with the City of Fulton and not something that is so out of the ordinary that it would not suit our purposes."

A. B. (Pete) Roberts: "I certainly am in favor of a City Park for Fulton. That's what I've been working on every since I got on the council. Looks like we are going to get something done pretty soon and I'll be the happiest man in town."

R. O. Williams: "I certainly am in favor of a city park for Fulton. I will do everything in the world I can to get it going and I hope that others will join with us in the attempt."

Stanley Jones, another member of the City Council could not be reached for comment.

Meanwhile the members of the City Council enlist the help of civic and cultural organizations to help them make plans to put the city park project into early action.

West Kentucky May Produce Presidential Candidate If All Goes Well In Chicago

The Kentucky Democratic Convention held in Louisville recently instructed its 72 delegates and alternates to vote for Vice-President Alben Barkley as the party's candidate for the Democratic nomination for President. The action was not unexpected and probably was a result of some smart thinking on the part of the Democratic big-wigs in the State. The instructions to vote for Barkley no doubt fall under the category of "favorite son" candidate, which many States submit as a special honor to outstanding statesmen in the various States.

But with Barkley, we believe that the title will emerge more than a "favorite son" gesture and if the early prospects of a helter-skelter, fighting, enthusiastic convention resolve into what we think it will, our own Alben Barkley may be the standard-bearer for the Democratic party come this Nov. This writer, a State-at-large delegate to the Democratic Convention in July, has been doing some tall thinking about the convention and what is more we have been preparing ourselves to do some enthusiastic politicking for Veep Barkley if things work out the way we hope they will.

Many Americans are not selling the Vice-President short. Although his age (he will be 75 in November) is the real factor concerned with his nomination, Mr. Barkley has proven in recent months that he can take it as well as the next fellow. He is still going at the terrific pace he did 25 years ago, and friends say that he is "fit as a fiddle". Moreover, excluding Harry Truman, it is our studied opinion that he is the only Democrat in the party who can give either Robert Taft or Ike Eisenhower a real fight in the November elections. People know Alben Barkley as a courageous American. He proved without a question of a doubt that he is no "yes-man" and showed that plainly when he resigned as Senate Majority Leader in 1944 when Mr. Roosevelt vetoed an important tax bill passed by both houses of Congress. His courage and statesmanship in that incident brought forth the "Dear Alben" letter from President Roosevelt and a subsequent ent apology from the fourth term president.

What about the strength of Kefauver, Stevenson, Kerr, Harriman and the others who have been courting the Democratic nomination. They no doubt will come in for some serious consideration and perhaps will emerge winners, but the real consideration is being given to a man who can beat Taft or Eisenhower and, although a youngster at this political game, we know that the Democrats are not going to let a popular vote candidate take the nomination, when the fate of the party is at stake as it surely will be this year. That being the case, it is possible that Kefauver might settle for the second best post and let the standard bearer be a seasoned candidate with lots of vote-getting ability to his credit. That man is either Barkley or Truman.

Truman? Who said anything about Truman? Didn't he say that he wouldn't be a candidate? Sure he did, but remember that the Republican convention is held prior to the Democratic convention. The Democrats will know when they go into convention what kind of a foe they will encounter and upon that possibility rests the real victor at the Democratic convention. If Barkley fails to make the grade, and Stevenson is truly serious about not wanting to run, and the convention will hold Harriman's wealth and affluence against him, it is then that the movement to "draft" Truman will get started and Harry will let his arm be twisted and accept.

Mark words. The political conventions this year will be among the most important in history. A change in party is a very definite possibility, a military man may be at the head of that winning party, and if so for four full years the country will be schooled into a militaristic attitude that cannot be escaped.

But we're getting off the subject. We're Democrats and loyal to that ideal, even though not to the shenanigans that have been going on in the party of late. We're asking that you keep your eyes on the conventions this summer and see how close our man Barkley comes to being PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

Sermonette of the Week

HONOR THE OLD FOLKS! IT'S YOUR STRICT DUTY.

(By Rev. Joseph Mantion)

WHEN WE WERE kids, we learned the Ten Commandments. One of them said, "Honor thy father and thy mother!" And even though at times we grumbled and balked, we still could see it was reasonable.

To obey, well that was O. K., but when the lesson droned on that we were supposed to support our parents in their declining years, to provide them with food and clothing and shelter and medicine and spiritual assistance—why that went over our heads like air mail.

But the obligation to support our parents, which we took so lightly when we were nine, binds us heavily now when we are twenty-nine or thirty-nine.

AFTER ALL, they provided for us for many years when we could not provide for ourselves. Why shouldn't we do as much for them now? Maybe they upset our routine a little; we used to upset their whole house.

Do you remember the story of the sturdy Bavarian peasant who got disgusted with his father because the trembling old man, carrying his plate away from the table after dinner, had broken two plates in the last month. So this day when the man dropped it, the farmer swore at him, and went out into a nearby forest and began to carve a plate out of wood.

SEEMS HIS OWN little son had tagged along after him, and got interested and asked his Dad what he was making. "I'm making a plate that that clumsy old grandfather of yours won't be able to break!"

The boy watched his father whittling away, and then he said, "Daddy, be sure you make that plate good and strong, because when you are old, I can give it to you."

Daddy almost cut his finger when he heard that. He looked at the boy, looked into space, tossed the plate into the woods, and said, "Come on, son, let's see how Grandpa's doing."

THERE ARE MANY old, forgotten mothers and fathers, living in little rooms, all alone. Well in this situation, do you think it is enough if a son or daughter mail them a few dollars every month? Surely they deserve more than mere support.

They are not old police horses turned out to pasture. They are mothers and fathers. They are hungry for other things than food—hungry for a little affection, a little visit, a little remembrance, a little love.

AND MARK YOU, all this is not sentimental charity. This is our solemn duty before God. He will ask us how we have performed it. It is the adult part of God's Fourth Commandment.

The best way to get a bad law repealed is to enforce it strictly.—Lincoln.

Where law ends, tyranny begins.—William Pitt.

Law is the embodiment of the moral sentiment of the people.—Blackstone.

Turning Back The Clock

The singing directed by Mr. Kennedy is the most enjoyable feature of the meeting. The best voices in the city make up the large chorus choir with Mrs. Clarence Maddox and Miss Butt at the pianos.

Plans are being perfected for an up-to-date white way for Fulton, in keeping with the progressive street improvement in the city. The Kentucky Utilities company has ordered the wiring for the new white way and the installation and will be extended to the depot. The old style globe lamp will be replaced with the newest improved model, giving five times the lighting capacity.

S. C. Smith, who has been associated with the U-Tote-Em grocery store since it opened for business in Fulton, has sold his interest in the establishment to the U-Tote-Em Grocery Co.

Mr. I. B. Cook, of Dresden, succeeds Mr. Smith as manager and will make Fulton his future home with his family.

Plans are under way to widen Fourth Street bridge and build

A wedding of interest to the community was solemnized Thursday afternoon, June 9, at 2 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wade on Carr Street, when Miss Lula Ing of Humboldt and Dr. S. A. Booth of Jackson, were united in marriage.

Mrs. Booth is a sister of Mrs. R. H. Wade and has numerous friends in Fulton, having spent many of her vacations here.

Mississippi River Falling: The river is falling again after the fourth big flood since the first of the year. There was a rise in December that ran over into January, which was a big flood, then as soon as that receded there was a March flood, which went higher than any flood ever known before, which fell several feet and then started back, reaching the highest mark ever known then causing the greatest loss ever known in this section.

A. B. Nichols, age 65, residing in Union City, was found in his car on the highway between U. City, and this city, suffering from a heart attack and died before reaching here. Mr. R. O. Brinkley, deputy sheriff of this city, who was passing along the road at the time, noticing Mr. Nichols in distress, stopped, and seeing Mr. Nichols's condition, removed him to Mr. Brinkley's car and hastened to Union City, but Mr. Nichols was dead when Mr. Brinkley arrived there.

The American Legion baseball club of Fulton has been giving some good exhibitions at Fair-ground ball park. They started off the season with a three game series with the fast Hall-Moody club of Martin. They beat Fulton two out of the three games, but they were all close and hard fought games.

Dick Oberlin:

Oberlin's Observations

In a few weeks the most important news in the world is going to be made in a place called the Chicago Convention Building & International Amphitheatre.

And what kind of place is this? Well, for one thing, it claims the world's record for feeding the largest number of people simultaneously. In fact, the Amphitheatre claims it set a record last November and broke it in May.

The first claim is for serving four thousand guests at a $100 a plate dinner to raise funds for the Illinois Republican Finance Committee with Sen. Robert Taft as the speaker.

Just a few weeks ago six thousand members of the Chicago Hadassah Society of the Women's Zionist Organization were served simultaneously a full luncheon.

To prepare to broadcast the convention proceedings by radio to more than 150 million Americans and millions of others in foreign lands, 2,200 pairs of telephone and telegraph wires have been installed in the convention hall.

For the benefit of the 80 million who will be in the television audience, nine permanent coaxial cables have been installed. The convention hall itself seats 4,500 on the ground floor and 7,500 in boxes and on the mezzanine and balcony which extend around all four walls of the building.

Those of us who sweated at Philadelphia four years ago until we all looked like we'd been standing in showers going full blast wearing all our clothes were happy to note one thing about the scene of the 1932 conventions.

One of the largest, specially built air conditioning plants in the world has just been installed in the Chicago Amphitheatre. Its capacity is equal to more than 150 pounds of ice per day for every one who will be attending the

DR. HARRELL URGES AID IN WORK OF CO. HEALTH DEPT.; $400 MORE IS NEEDED

Dr. J. F. Harrell, Fulton County Health officer is today stating the position of the Health Department in its need for additional funds to operate. His statement follows:

June 30th marks the end of the fiscal year when budgets for health work must be in and the health program arranged for another year, if we are to continue.

Appropriations in the past have been made in Fulton County by different agencies, that is, the Fiscal Court, County and City Boards of Education, City Councils and in some instances different civic groups. Up to the present time we are short the appropriation of $400.00. We have asked no organization to appropriate more than it did this year.

In view of these facts shall we allow the health department to lapse and lose what we have gained in preventive medicines and drift back like we once were,

Korean War Casualty To Be Brought Home

The bodies of 160 Americans who lost their lives as a result of the fighting in Korea are being returned to the United States aboard the Loma Victory, the Department of Defense announced today.

The ship is expected to arrive at San Francisco this week-end. Next to kin concerned have been notified of the imminent arrival of the vessel. The bodies will be sent with an escort to the point designated by each individual next of kin.

Included in the list of dead being returned include:
Private First Class Billy L. Patterson, husband of Mrs. Aletha Patterson of Fulton.

NO ADVANCE FEES

Assistant Attorney General M. B. Hollifield ruled that sheriffs are not due arresting fees in advance in misdemeanor cases but must await final judgment and have a fee taxed against the convicted person. The new law was passed by the 1952 General Assembly.

when long drawn out epidemics of communicable diseases were prevalent. Shall we allow these epidemics to return with all the horrors, sequences and expenses?

The time is growing short when it must be decided one way or the other. It rests with the citizens and appropriating agencies of your county.

Those of you who believe the health department in your county is a worth while organization and should be continued should consult with your county appropriating agencies and see if arrangements can be made to carry on this public health program.

We know if a health department is once allowed to lapse for any cause it is a difficult matter to get it reorganized with state and federal matching funds restored.

Lets think seriously before allowing the health program to be discontinued.

If the state health department, the county fiscal courts and other sources have faith in the efficiency of a health department in this or any other county and are willing to largely finance the work, Fulton County can well afford to cooperate with these agencies by guaranteeing the payment of the $400.00 which we are short.

Within a few days the question of the appropriation will be definitely settled. In behalf of the children of our entire county, we urge the appropriation of this extra amount and become a supporter of a plan that has proved of value in the past and will continue to be valuable in the future.

SIEGEL EMPLOYEES RETURN TO WORK

Striking employees of the Henry I. Siegel Company made their own settlement before returning to jobs Friday, plant manager Leo Greengrass reported.

"They returned Friday morning at the regular time (7 a. m.) after settling their differences among themselves," Mr. Greengrass said.

Four hundred and seventy-five employees walked out of the plant Thursday morning. The strike was not an official one, it was reported.

The strike began at 9:30 o'clock Thursday when the employees on the third floor walked out because the men in the cutting department received a raise and they didn't, a plant employee said.

OF ALL OF THE COURT DECISIONS

Of all of the court crazy decisions I have read about out side some "kangaroo courts" was that of Madge Meredith, a 20 year old actress out the Hollywood way. She had to go to the penitentiary under a sentence of some 10 years and was fined 10 thousand dollars for kidnapping one Nick Gianacis, a 250 pound Greek of the underworld.

I thought at the time that there was something so very rotten in the matter.

There was a Missourian, who I used to know, by the name of just common Jones, W. Jones, he went by, who felt like I did. He is a retired lawyer and he took the case up, interesting a newly elected county attorney and then the Attorney General.

She was released after a full investigation and the Nick Gianacis, was taken over. He was living in Miss Meredith's home and was thrown out of that of course and it was given back to the girl.

The story of the sordid means to jail the victim need not be brought up but one wonders how such things can take place in today's world.

THIS SOCIAL SECURITY

When my representatives in Washington tell me of the advantages of Social Security, I think of the oft told tale of the matter being explained to an Indian and how after he would put in certain monies in the U. S. coffer that he would be remunerated when he got up against it.

The Indian reflected a while and finally said, "me understand. Jack (pointing to his dog) he work for me, he help me catchum meat. Then he say he hungry and me cut off his tail and give him meat". Some time the situation might change a little, if he don't cut off Jack's tail to feed him he cuts off some other dog's tail and feeds him.

There is reported to be more than the million people who work at this Social Security racket.

AND the number is growing. Then there are millions of people who have to work at it, who receive no compensation but who are peoned by the government and have to work for nothing to carry out the plan or go to jail. It is strictly a political movement and we just let it be carried on. Every member we have in congress should be hauled on the carpet who have supported this socialistic move.

WOULD YOU UNDERSTAND

The real value of money and its buying power depends on the amount issued multiplied by the turn over of the currency.

In other words if we keep on printing more and more paper money and the worker gets more and more wage and does less and less as they are now doing and have longer and longer periods for rest and holidays and larger and larger unemployment checks it will certainly bring on a decided smaller buying power of the dollar and more and more inflation which will bring us to our knees and we are already very bow legged.

The cure? There is no need of telling a patient who is sick, he wants to know what to do to cure the ailment.

From time to time I get the talks made by one of the outstanding industrialists of the nation. They are well founded on philosophical lines of thought. While he advised well he don't go into action. It is only such men as he is who can stop the runaway inflation that is headed this way.

Suppose one oil men should get together like the labor gangsters do and say, "We are not going to give you strikers a raise in wages" and then stand by their ultimatum. The striker would stand by their demands to bring the nation to their knees if their demands were not met. Who would suffer? Just you and me, the babies who could not get their milk and the city man who could not get down to his office or the laborer who could not make the plant? No the oil workers would suffer just like the rest of us. We are all in the same boat. If the oil worker wants to shoot a hole in it and go down with the rest of us let him shoot it. We are going to go down if we keep on meeting the demands of the labor goons who are always supported by the administration. This would go for the worker in the mines the truck drivers and all the rest. Lets settle this matter of strikes now.

The Chickasaw Indians received an annuity totaling $20,000,000 under the terms of a treaty signed in 1818 in which they relinquished all claims to land in Kentucky and Tennessee.

Despite a declaration of neutrality by Kentucky during the Civil War, both the Union and Confederacy invaded and fought her soil before the cessation of hostilities.

Until the coming of the white man, and for many years thereafter, Kentucky was the hunting ground for roving bands of Algonquin, Iroquois, Cherokee and Chickasaw Indians.

The Bluegrass area produces about one-half of Kentucky's total tobacco crop. The State now ranks second in the nation among tobacco growers.

Abe Lincoln was out hunting in the woods one morning when he came upon a truculent hunter who immediately took a sight on him with his rifle.

"Hullo", said Abe, "what are you going to do, stranger?" "See here, friend," said the other, "the folks in my settlement told me if I saw a man uglier than I was then I must shoot him."

"Well," said Abe, "eying the man carefully for a second. "Shot away, for if I'm really uglier than you are, I don't want to live any longer."

The present Kentucky constitution was adopted in 1891.

The average annual temperature in Kentucky is approximately 57 degrees.

Eisenhower alternately laughed, cheered, and came close to tears as he saw old friends including surviving members of his high school football team, posed in gridiron array. One float was occupied by several of his former school teachers.

A huge picture of Mrs. Eisenhower was captioned: "Ike's Boss." He nodded enthusiastically and grinned broadly.

Eisenhower's liking for Western stories was acknowledged by the presence of scores of saddle horses ridden by members of organizations retaining the flavor of the plains area.

Abilene, Kans., June 13 — Ike Eisenhower came back to dedicate a war memorial museum, but the memory of the man himself is etched forever in the hearts of his friends and neighbors who know him best.

In Abilene they do not simply like Ike—they love him.

Old-time citizens wept openly when, in one of two public speeches, he paid tribute to his parents "who lived in that little cottage behind the trees and reared our family."

And he was heard when he declared: "I have found out later that we were very poor—but the glory of America is that we didn't know it then."

Time after time he recognized acquaintances and waved, or yelled out first name greetings.

Among the proudest was Charles M. Harger, 89-year-old Abilene newspaper publisher who once employed Ike as a carrier boy and later was instrumental in helping arrange his entry into West Point.

Eisenhower's wholesome American background was dramatized in a thousand ways during two days of drama-packed activities.

Past a creamery where Ike worked as a boy, an automobile caravan carried him and some of the most prominent political figures of the nation.

Later, a parade depicting every step of his lifetime passed in re-hour before each meal does not interfere with mealtime eating?—that ice cream consumption has increased over 50% per person annually since World War II?—that the per capita consumption of cheese in the United States has almost doubled since 1918?—that all commercial butter is graded for flavor, body and texture, color, salt, and packaging?—that milk is the most important single food in the diet for expectant mothers?

A woman complained to a psychoanalyst: "My family thinks there's something wrong with me, and it's all because I like buckwheat cakes."

"But there is nothing wrong about liking buckwheat cakes," the doctor replied, puzzled. "I like them myself."

"Oh, do you?" the woman was delighted. "You must come up some day. I have seven trunks full."

The sergeant was quizzing a group of rookies. "Smith," he asked, "what's the first thing you do when cleaning a rifle?"

"I look at the number," answered the private.

"What's that got to do with it?" the sarge barked.

"That," answered Smith, "is to make sure I'm cleaning my own gun!"

Letters To The Editors

Los Angeles, Calif.
May 14, 1952

Editor:
The Fulton News
Fulton, Kentucky.

In a recent editorial you say:
"We need a change in the Democratic party." "Jackson and Jefferson didn't organize the Democratic party on graft, corruption, deep freezes, mink coats and other scandals."

We agree; But would suggest that the editor read his editorial again and analyze some of the sentences carefully, and then make some comparisons between the two parties by doing some research work on his own account; beginning with U. S. Grant's administration, including both parties, and bring it on down to the present time.

He will find ample proof that the Democrats are not the only ones who have dirty linen; in fact not near as much as the Republicans have.

As everyone knows Grant's administration was the most corrupt in the history of our nation; the corruption spreading through every state and even down through every county.

It has been said that the greater part of the colossal depredations were never uncovered and will never be known. In time the scandals seems to have died down until Harding's administration, then the lid blew off again, and the famous Teapot Dome scandals created another sensation around the world. The secretary of state was sent to the penitentiary, some of the others drew lighter sentences after four years of "investigation". After that, Coolidge and Hoover came along. Both, it was said, were tools of the reactionary Republicans; measured by Hoovers worldwide depression there doesn't seem to be much doubt about it.

Often, people take the Republicans as just another political party without knowing, or caring, what they stand for.

The late Harold L. Ickes former secretary of the interior tells us a few things about them. He writes:

"The writer is a man who was born into a traditionally Republican family, and he adhered to that party until 1912 when he followed Theodore Roosevelt into a party that consisted overwhelmingly of Republicans who could no longer tolerate the position upon them by a BUSINESS POLITICAL MACHINE, that in growing strength had grown away from the people, and had exercised political power for the benefit of the few."

"The western pioneer farmers and other resources of the Republican strength came to feel that they were being exploited economically."

Some years ago while talking with a college professor of political economy, I spoke of the power and great wealth of New York. "Yes," he agreed "You see what we of the west have paid for with the tribute that New York has exacted from us." There not only lay the center of the financial power of the nation, there also was entrenched the political power of the Republican party, as it had been developed and concentrated since the Civil War. The western pioneer and farmer were contributing from the fruits of their labor and enterprise to help build the financial power of New York too, paid in sweat and blood under intolerant working conditions, for long hours for inadequate pay. The retention of the Republican party in power served to create and foster an economical system which forced the small businessman into bankruptcy or, as the alternative, required him to sell to a bigger businessman who in turn, was sucked into great combinations of business. In course of time, these Americans who were so typical of a strong and self-reliant nation became aware that the party of their enthusiastic allegiance, the Republican party, represented first and foremost the great banks, the out-reaching railroad system, the steel trust, the aluminum trust, and other great combinations of money and trade that had grown mighty because of the special privileges that they enjoyed at the hands of the Republican party.

"The most gigantic steal ever proposed in all history. The Republican party in league with the reactionaries and Wall Street economic imperialists, are committed to a deliberate design to raid what is left of the nations natural wealth, which by tradition and legal right belongs to all of the people. Just how far the Republican Party is willing to go to further enrich the great corporations which it serves is sharply illustrated by its proposals to turn over to private interests natural resources which should be held in public trust for the benefit of all the people and the nation's security."

"The Republican party, officially and frankly, proposes to throw away the successful example of the T. V. A. and substitute state development of power to be turned over to private power utilities AT THEIR PRICE and their private profit, at the expense of consumers."

"The Republican party proposes ment in the development and use of atomic energy by turning it over to private business for exploitation and PROFIT. Thus, the American people are to be deprived of the greatest source of power and energy mankind has ever discovered, a discovery made by their government, with their money"

The above quotations shows only a small part of what is going on by the Republicans and the utilities; they have been working for several years at untold expense, trying to take over the great T. V. A.

32 states have already passed resolutions to amend the constitution to prevent the government owning or controlling any kind of business, public or private. When the T. V. A. is turned over to the utilities the rates will be boosted to staggering proportions. The people's tax money that built the dams will have been lost.

The utilities refuse to build their own dams and power plants. Their scheme is to let the government build them with taxpayers money and then take them over at just about nothing. They keep a swarm of lobbyists in Washington every session of congress to pressure the Senate and Representatives for whatever legislation the monopolies want.

It is no wonder that most people think that there are millions of dollars spent to influence the legislators.

The Republicans have the reputation of being hirelings of the great monopolies. — It is a thing to be pondered.

James Markham.

"TOOTHBRUSHES"

A few days ago I was telling a story about a young girl who broke off a twig of poison ivy to make a toothbrush, thinking it was black gum. The youngsters to whom I was talking looked incredulous. At first I did not know what I had omitted of my story. Then it dawned on me: they had never heard of a black-gum toothbrush. I did not have the heart to explain about hickory-bark toothbrushes; I decided to leave that until another time.

Maybe you do not know about black-gum toothbrushes, either. If you do not, you are young or else got an unusual contact with fetched-on toothbrushes quite early. Now, back in Fidelity when this century was still very young, toothbrushes bought at the store were practically non-existent. I doubt whether there was one per square mile. But teeth had to be taken care of, anyway, and nature had supplied a "never-ending amount of potential toothbrushes. The hillsides were covered with black-gum bushes. A small twig of a black-gum, chewed into a small brush could do the work of the highly advertised bristle brushes or their more aristocratic successors. In most homes there were likely to be a whole assortment of such brushes, each in the proper place for its special user. As many middle-aged and elderly ladies used snuff, nothing quite took the place of the toothbrush.

Just as in other spheres of life, there was an aristocrat among toothbrushes. I mean the hickory-bark toothbrush, whittled out and scraped and sandpapered with great care and often presented with a flourish. In one of my old diaries I find that I spent a whole evening one winter making several of these toothbrushes. Whether I used them, gave them away, or just kept them for looks the diary does not say, and I cannot remember after all this half century.

Isn't it funny how the habits of one generation seem strange or crude to people of another time? What once was may have been perfectly appropriate and even highbrow; with the passing of time, it may become silly or coarse. This should make us a little more tolerant of human customs, for who knows how many people may use us as laughing-stocks when we have passed or are passing off the scene? Probably all of us need to see that most of our customs are highly changeable, that it was not necessary to have a theory of relativity to account for the lack of fixedness in earthly affairs. Some of the nations of the world have held on to their customs since the earliest days of written history. But would you like to be a Hindu or a Chinese?

Even though customs are changing and all institutions are passing institutions, it is good to follow our more faithfully while we are "in the swim" so that we will know what it is to be identified as part of a time and a place. I do not see that the queer ones who refuse to follow, sensibly, the dress of their time gain anything from being hard-headed. It is true that many styles are pretty foolish, viewed abstractly, but how about the ones that elderly people often cling to—Are these styles permanent, whereas the clothes you and I wear are mere fads? The beards of the time just before now had many comic elements, as they were seen by younger people who grew up after breads were becoming uncommon or were the mark of old and senile people. But, back in the swing of chin whiskers, to have a naked chin was to confess yourself unable to grow hair, or still worse, to confess yourself unwilling to act like all the other nice folks. Though I am glad that I grew up too late to wear whiskers, I am perfectly sure that I would have tried my skill in growing an outstanding crop if I had lived earlier, though I fear I would have failed to look so hirsute as many a young man I have known. Who knows—but that many a youngster that we know today will go down to posterity, as did Longfellow, Bryant, and Whittier, as a bearded patriarch who, apparently, never was young?

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup cocoa
few grains salt
1 cup Pet Milk

1/4 teaspoon vanilla
4 slices plain cake
1 1/2 pints vanilla ice cream

Mix sugar, cocoa and salt in small heavy saucepan. Stir milk in slowly until smooth. Cook over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil, stirring all the time. Stir and boil 3 minutes, or until mixture thickens. Remove from heat and add vanilla. Put a slice of cake on each of 4 dessert plates. Arrange ice cream on cake. Top each serving with about 2 tablespoons of sauce. Cover and chill rest of sauce for future use. Makes 1 1/2 cups sauce.
